

Welcome to Stonehaven Fetteresso

29th April to 22nd May

This, then, is how you should pray:
'Our Father in heaven,
hallowed be your name,
your kingdom come,
your will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven.'

Matthew 6:9-10

Fetteresso services are filmed and livestreamed. Please be aware that the central first four rows may be in camera. Photographs may only be taken by our Social Media Co-ordinator, for our social media applications and church website. If you would prefer not to be included, please sit in one of the no camera zones.

Thank you.

The church office will be closed from

The Church of Scotland - REHIS Introduction to Food Hygiene Course.

Food hygiene training requires to be updated at least every 5 years and regrettably that means that with a very few exceptions, not many people in our church have received up to date training.

It is a legal requirement that anyone who handles or prepares food and drink are appropriately trained and/or supervised. To help all congregations ensure that all their members and volunteers have received suitable training, the Church of Scotland has made available an online training course. It would be good for as many people as possible to take advantage of this training now that we are returning to more 'normal' activities within the church.

The Church of Scotland has advised that they are now welcoming applications from members of congregations who wish to undertake the REHIS Introduction to Food Hygiene course by e-learning. Individuals may register themselves to participate in the course.

Below you will find some information relating to this course and how to apply.

What is the REHIS Introduction to Food Hygiene course?

This is an accredited and industry accepted introductory food hygiene course that will provide all participants with the knowledge and skills to be able to handle and prepare low risks food safely.

Who is the course for?

This course is suitable for anyone who handles and prepares food and drink. This course will be especially useful for anyone who bakes at home on behalf of their congregation

How long does the course take to complete?

This course will take approximately 2 hours to complete. It is in 8 separate units so you can break the training into smaller sessions if you wish.

How is the course assessed?

This course is interactive and participants will be encouraged to reflect on their food safety knowledge and skills. There are no tests or exams during or after this course.

How is the course delivered?

This course is delivered through a third party training partner and is entirely online.

Do I need access to a computer?

Yes, you will need access to a computer or tablet with a suitable internet connection.

Will I receive a certificate?

Yes, everyone who completes the course will receive an approved REHIS Introduction to Food Hygiene certificate.

How do I apply to participate in this training?

Please go online to the address below and complete the online form:

<https://forms.office.com/r/SQncvKdWus>

Please check that the details that you enter are correct as they will not be able to make corrections at a later date. You will receive a notification that your registration has been accepted within 10 working days.

If you have completed this course please send a copy of your certificate to the office.
